Northern Pacific Matters

gton, May 15—The House Ju- Committee to-day heard Gen n support of the resolution in- by Mr. Hartman of Montana, to the reorganization of the North- fic Railroad company, to secure settlers the right to purchase at t exceeding $2.50 an acre the ag- l lands within its grant, and to prohibit the consolidation of the road with any parallel or competing railroad. Messrs Doolittle and Hyde of Washington, Tawney of Minnesota, Cook of Wisconsin and Hartman of Montana, representatives through whose states the road runs, were present and took part in the discussion of the matter. All favored the resolution. No conclusion was reached and further hearing will be given on Tuesday next.

TELLER SAYS HE WILL GO.

He Believes Further Statements Unnecessary.

Washington, May 15—Senator Teller will go to the St Louis convention.

"It is not necessary for me to say anything as to what I may or may not do," said the Senator this afternoon "I informed the Republicans of my State what my position was, believing that in so doing I was acting in good faith. They knew before they elected me as a delegate to St. Louis what were my views, and, in the full knowledge of those views they made their choice

"Under the circumstances I shall be one of the delegates, and will be at St Louis. I stand just where I stood in my speech and in my letter to the chairman of our State committee. Beyond this it is unnecessary for me to say anything."

MCKINLEY AND SILVER

North Carolina State Republican Convention.

Raleigh, N. C., May 15—The second day's session of the Republican State convention began at noon State Chairman Holton presided. Senator Pritchard was nominated as permanent chairman of the convention, but declared he would not accept, and Henry Mott was chosen The following resolution, offered by ex-Congressman Ewart, was adopted by acclamation on a rising vote

Resolved, That Jeter C Pritchard be nominated as the candidate of the Republican party for United States Senator and that the delegates to this convention pledge themselves to use all honorable means to secure his reelection

Senator Pritchard was given an ovation. He made a strong plea for protection and attacked the present tariff. He disapproved the Dingley bill and declared he was a friend of silver, that some people claimed they were the exclusive friends of silver but that Republicans were its only real friends. He also declared it would cost Democrats to raise the silver issue and before the tariff question Senator Pritchard offered a resolution which was adopted, instructing the delegates to the national convention to vote for McKinley for President, so long as his name is before the convention.

The following resolutions were adopted

We favor the use of gold and silver as standard money and the restoration of silver to its full status and dignity as a money. We are opposed to retiring greenbacks, the money of the people, the money favored by Lincoln

We are opposed to the issue of interest-bearing bonds in time of peace

Senator Pritchard submitted a report of the conference with the Populist State committee, which stated that if the Populist State convention fails or refuses to renominate its part of the candidates on the State ticket, the Republican State committee is given power to complete the State ticket

Hector McGuire and Oscar J. Spear are elected Republican electors at large by the State convention. They were instructed for McKinley.

HIS SECOND CHOICE

Warner Miller Will Support McKinley After Morton.

New York, May 15.—Mr. Warner Miller furnished the United Press, to-day with the following statement:

"I returned from a trip to the Adirondacks this morning and find that some of Gov. Morton's friends are excited over the fact that some papers have mentioned myself as a candidate for Vice President on the ticket with McKinley, and also that the old and discarded story that I had visited Mr Hanna and made arrangements with him has been revived."

"Ordinarily I would give no attention to a matter of this kind, but under the circumstances I think I may as well end them both at once. To all of my friends who have asked my views in regard to being a candidate for Vice President, I have replied that I was not a candidate and would not be under any possible conditions that might arise. I have not seen Mr. Hanna since last June, and I have no communication, direct or indirectly with him. In short, Mr Hanna has not attempted to buy my support to McKinley by offering me any position or other consideration whatever. I announced myself as supporting Gov. Morton before many of his officious friends did so. I have also been instructed by the State convention to support Gov. Morton's candidacy. I have done so and I shall continue to do so; but I want the Republicans of the State of New York, when I have the honor in part to represent at St Louis, to understand that I am not taking any part in any canvass which has for its sole object the proposition (anything to beat McKinley."

"I have looked upon all the leading candidates heretofore mentioned as every way competent and worthy to fill the exalted position of President of the United States and the nomination of any one of them would receive my most cordial indorsement and support, but from correspondence and connection with the Republicans of the interior of the State, I believe that a vast majority of them after and second to Gov. Morton's candidacy prefer the nomination of McKinley. I am in entire sympathy with the wishes of the Republicans of the State of New York, and if the occasion shall ever arise in the convention my second choice will be Major McKinley. I have known Mr McKinley for nearly 20 years I know him to be an honest, straightforward, conscientious and able man; he has had a large experience in public affairs and would no doubt fill the exalted position of President of the United States with credit to himself and honor to his party"

Instructed for McKinley

Sheridan, Wyo., May 15—The Wyoming Republican convention to-day declared for protection and bimetallism and the delegates were instructed for McKinley.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Washington, May 15—The Supreme Court of the United States has denied petitions for rehearing of the following cases:

The United States vs the State of Texas, involving the jurisdiction over public possession of what is known as Greer county, decided in favor of the United States

Brown vs. Walker, habeas corpus case, appealed from the Circuit Court of the United States for the western district of Pennsylvania, which affirmed the validity of the provision of the interstate commerce act, securing immunity from punishment to those who testified to violations of the law with which they have been connected.

Snow in Denver.

Denver, May 15—A snow storm visited this city, to-day although the weather is not cold. The snow melted in the city almost as fast as it fell but it remained several inches deep on the plains. The farmers welcomed it because they needed water for irrigation.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

Worst Cyclone in History of Northern Texas.

MANY DEAD AND INJURED.

Houses, Trees, Fences, Everything Swept Aside—Gruesome Sights in the Path of the Storm—Destruction in the Country.

Sherman, Tex., May 15—The city of Sherman was visited by the worst cyclone in the history of northern Texas, about 5 o'clock this evening—The loss of life will probably reach 100 with as many more bruised and wounded. The city hall and the store room formerly occupied by S. G. Holmes has been turned into temporary hospitals and 15 bruised, mangled and mutilated bodies are awaiting identification at these two places. Nearly every house in Fairview addition was turned into a hospital and the citizens rendered all the aid possible.

The path of the destroyer was 100 yards wide. It struck the city at the west end of Post Oak creek and swept in a westerly direction for several blocks and then spread and spent its force. The track of the cyclone is a gruesome sight, the devastation being complete, houses, trees, fences, in fact, everything in its path was destroyed.

Following is a list of the dead so far as known:

R. L. Burns, wife and two children; Mrs Otto Paulsing and two children; James Nicholson, wife and two children; T. H. Montgomery, wife and two children; John Adams, wife and two children; Rev. Mr. Shearer; eight members of the Pearce and Richardson families at the Wakefield farm; child of Mrs. Craighead; Mrs. Burns and two children, Mrs. James Davis; Mrs John Fields; Lucinda Lake, colored; Charles Cox, colored; Eliza Cox, colored; Sloane Ballinger, colored; Katie Ballinger, colored, William Nichols and four children, colored; Wright Clark and three members of his family, colored; Mrs. Athens; 18 unidentified dead at the city hall

Dr Sadler, who has not been seen since the storm, is believed to have been killed Seriously injured Prof and Mrs Kahler, six children of J. B. Irwin; Edward True.

Loth Gray's Hill and Fairview were badly damaged. The cyclone passed directly west of the North Texas Female college, barely missing it. For two or three block everything in its pathway was swept aside, Then it would rise for a block or two and little damage would be done.

After the Storm

B. B. Sales, a deliveryman, drove down Houston avenue, directly after the cyclone He stated that he saw at least seven men, women and children lying along the avenue dead and many wounded. The devastation in spots where the cyclone was the worst is complete. Capt. Ely's fine residence was blown to pieces. His wife and two children were in a closet, but fortunately escaped without injury. Not a thing remains to mark the spot where only a few hours before stood the magnificent residence of Col. Burgess. His family was absent from the house at the time

Mayor Tone of Denison, gives the following account of the cyclone: "I was in the court house about 5 o'clock, when suddenly I heard a roaring wind coming from the south The next thing I knew the air was thick with mud and small specks resembling ashes. The cyclone did not strike the court house or jail, but followed up Post Oak creek. The roaring did not continue over two or three minutes. During all this time it rained hard. In about five minutes rumors began to spread that many lives had been lost, and the reports grew worse and worse as time passed. By 9 o'clock 59 dead bodies had been brought into the public buildings and searching parties are out for more."

Dead children have been found in trees, under leveled houses and in Post Oak creek. An iron bridge over Post Oak creek was twisted into scrap iron.

Prof. and Mrs. Kahler were both badly, and it is feared, seriously injured. The six children of J. B. Irwin are all badly hurt.

Dr. Michael left for the west part of the town just before the cyclone, and was caught in the storm and badly hurt.

Dr. Sadler left for the south part of town just before the storm and at present writing nothing has been heard from him. It is feared he was killed.

Mrs. James Davis and Mrs. John Fields, who live ten miles south of town, were both killed.

It is feared the destruction in that part of the country is serious.

A mass meeting was held to-night at the court house to devise means to relieve the distressed.

Scenes of Destruction.

Five elegant residences were demolished in this city. The Houston Street Steel Suspension bridge was torn to splinters and huge iron girders twisted like straw. Houses, trees, animals and human beings were blown thousands of feet. Whole families were exterminated—and separated by the relentless storm

The bodies of Mrs Otto Ballinger and child were blown five hundred feet up Grape Hill. Many bodies are yet unrecovered

A hundred negro cabins were blown off the face of the earth.

Mrs. L. E. Ely and two children were miraculously saved under the ruins of their home. A bureau fell on the family and a stairway on top of the bureau, protecting them from falling walls

Sixth street was not very thickly settled, but what houses were there were carried upward in the mighty whirlwind.

A farmer driving along in front of Captain Ely's house was killed instantly. The wagon wheels were found but no trace of the team. Bodies of children headless and disembowelled are common.

Six unidentified white corpses are in Undertaker Harrington's rooms. Some of the victims have limbs broken in as many as three places.

J. H. Herron, who lives five miles south of town, brought in his only son, fatally injured. There was only the father and son in the family and they had been batching together for many years. The latter is distracted with grief. He saw the storm coming and went to the storm house and escaped without a scratch. The boy was away from home at his uncles, who was killed with his wife and baby.

Ten bodies were brought in from the Wakefield farm ten miles west of the city. A. F. Pearson, wife, grand daughter, married daughter and three other children who live on the farm were all killed.

Premonitions of a Storm

The atmospheric conditions have been much disturbed for several days in Texas. To-day there were hail and wind storms in various parts of northern Texas. To-day there was a series of cyclones storms affecting mostly Grayson and Denton counties. At Sanger and Justin, in the latter county, there was a cyclone that doubtless extended into Grayson county and caused the disaster here.

The storm passed to the northeast into the Indian Territory. It is thought the country for 14 of 15 miles around has been devastated and nearly depopulated by the storm.

The cyclone was preceded by a terrible clap of thunder and much lightning. Accompanying it came a furious dash of rain The roar of the storm was heard all over the city. Many fell on their knees and prayed for life. Colored people, terror stricken, sank on their knees in the mud and cried: "Jesus have mercy on us;" "Save us."

A big colored woman with both legs broken was found in the creek crying "On the 15th of May the Lord [illegible] me and all my children."

Five minutes after the storm the sky was bright and clear, but desolation, terror and uncontrollable grief reigned where ten minutes before were happy united families and pleasant homes.

Many private homes have been turned into hospitals and physicians and surgeons of this and adjacent towns will work all night Some of the wounded in the hospitals will die before morning.

The ladies of Sherman came to the rescue, coolly and bear up bravely in the face of the most sickening sights.

A. P. A. CONVENTION.

Majority Seem Enthusiastic in Support of McKinley.

Washington May 15.—All the interest in the A. P. A. convention is now centered in the probable action to be taken regarding Maj. McKinley. The enthusiasm of his support by a great majority of the convention leaves no doubt the "hoodoo" against the candidate will be annulled as soon as a vote on the subject can be reached, but fears are now expressed by some of the adherents of Maj McKinley that the convention will go beyond that and formally indorse the Ohio man as well—[illegible] the advisory board executive committee which published the charges against him.

It is now the effort of conservative Republicans in the convention and out of it to prevent this indorsement for fear that it might develop some back action effects and they are insisting that the convention take no positive action at all in reference to political candidates until after they are formally nominated and before the country. The convention is apparently transacting little business of public interest, although it is stated that a strong attempt is being made to do away with the secrecy of the organization, and make it open to all

At this morning's session the report of the committee on agitation and education was adopted It expressed the committee's belief that agitation without education was dangerous, and that a bureau ought to be established for disseminating information. It also recommended that the junior A. P. A. be placed under the control of the women's A. P. A., and presented an opinion that all property in the United States except that owned by national, state and municipal governments, ought to be taxed.

The A. P. A. held a largely attended mass meeting to-night. The resolutions described the objects of the association as being decidedly adverse to the Catholic religion in politics Judge Storer of Massachusetts presided The speakers were E. H. Dunbar of Boston, W. E. Chapin of New York, C. C. Bradshaw of Montana, V. P. Jackson and James Wardrip of California.

Mr. Wardrip in his address declared the Marquette statue in the United States capital must go and Cardinal Satolli must go; that no Italian would be recognized as a Catholic ambassador in this country.

Thomas A. Hansen of Ohio said heretofore the Catholics had been the Goliath of this country, but now they had met their David in the A. P. A. Mr. Hansen is a colored man.

Mrs. Carrie Fordyke of Michigan, the national president of the women's A. P. A. of America, said every move of the day had the woman's side She spoke of the woman's influence for the Catholic faith. She said that the backbone of the A. P. A. now is the women's A. P. A.

Henry B. Ingham of New York commented upon the appointment to-day of the new pension commissioner, Dominic R. Murphy, in a rather sarcastic manner. Public Printer Benedict came in for his share of sarcasm at the hands of Mr. Ingham, who declared him to have been an obscure man in Utica county, New York, before his elevation. Fourteen hundred out of sixteen hundred of the employes of the bureau of engraving and printing were Catholics, he said, but in the next administration these figures would be reversed. Maj. Holman also spoke.

Six Injured.

Newton, Tex., May 15—Six persons were injured, one of them fatally, by a cyclone which passed near Mount Ridge, a station on the Missouri Pacific, twelve miles north of here, this morning. A stretch of country of about eight miles in length and 100 yards in width was devastated

Samuel Bassn, a farmer, was fatally injured and his home demolished. Five others, whose names are unknown, were more or less seriously injured.

At Howe.

Howe, Tex., May 15.—To-day's terrible cyclone struck this town Its path was a quarter of a mile wide Eight persons were killed outright and many injured. Bark was ripped from trees and much stock killed.

At Justin

Justin, Tex., May 15.—A cyclone struck the town of Justin to-day at 2:30 p. m., blowing 12 houses down, killing one man, named W. J. Evans of Keller, Tex., and badly injuring 15 others. The cyclone also did much damage north of here.

Large Damage.

Denton, Tex., May 15.—A cyclone struck the town of Gribble Springs, eight miles north of Denton this afternoon. Five persons were killed, and five others so badly wounded that they cannot live. The property damage is great Freight Train Wrecked.

Green Bay, Wis., May 15—A freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul was wrecked near here to-night. Fireman Casper, brakeman John O'Connor, the engineer, and John Miller, a tramp, were killed, and two injured.

Judge Nelson's Retirement.

Duluth, Minn., May 15—There was considerable surprise in the United States Court today over the retirement of Judge Nelson. He was in the midst of a trial, when he astonished everyone by dismissing the jury, adjourning court and announcing his retirement to private life. Judge Nelson is the oldest judge in point of service on the federal bench—having been appointed nearly forty years ago.

Matt Adams Arrived.

Quarantine, S. I., May 15—Matthew Adams, the alleged Denver absconder, was a second class passenger on the steamer Campania which arrived tonight from Liverpool Col. John A. Cockerill's body is on board the Campania.

Routed Matabeles.

Buluwayo, May 15—A party under Captains Grey and Wray attacked and routed a body of Matabeles near Thebia, Indus, killing nearly eighty.

Passed Third Reading.

Berlin, May 15.—The Reichstag to-day by a vote of 181 to 121 passed the sugar bill on its third reading.

Gold Reserve.

Washington, May 15.—The treasury lost today $1,122,000 in gold, which leaves the reserve standing at $113,141,467

SENSATIONAL BALL GAME.

College Won from Boulder 9 to 8 in Ten Innings.

THE EXCITEMENT WAS GREAT.

Our Boys Get the Pennant Sure This Year—Last Part of the Game Played in the Rain—Another Good Game Expected.

Colorado College won yesterday against Boulder by a score of 9 to 8 in a ten inning game. It was hot stuff and there is no getting around it. The last half of the tenth inning had to be played in a rain storm, but had the rain drops been leaden with bullets it would not have kept those college fellows from playing it It was one of those sensational games that you read about, when home runs are knocked at critical moments and star plays are in order. It set them wild, and the academy boys took such a wild tack of it that one could not help but wish that the dean would appear with a paddle and adjure the catastrophy outlined in the legend of Pike's Peak or bust to come that way, to close the series of games and the two teams promise even more exciting times than yesterday.

The college men will win the game today they claim and also the pennant There were many brilliant features to the game yesterday. The catching of Clay for the Boulders was what you might call "pretty work." He handles himself easily and throws well. In the left field Southard for the visitors made a pretty catch of a hot liner that was a star play. Their third baseman's catching in the ninth was brilliant. Robinson had a drop that our boys failed to get on to for a time. For the home team Carlson caught a great game, and his throwing to second was all that could be desired. Packard put up a fine game of ball as usual, and his throwing was a puzzler for the state University fellows. Harrington at second took Schillinger's place who has been sick, and was the star player of the day. March made good catches and Ehrich showed up better ball. The game as played was as follows.

Details of the Play.

The College was first at the bat and Carlson singled to a right field, which rattled Boulder's pitcher. Griffith hit the short stop forcing Carlson out at second Griffith stole second on a wild pitch and scored on an error by first baseman, O Gillette reached first on an error and scored on Packard's pretty home run over left field fence. P. Gillette got to first and out Lockhart reached first on an error by the short stop Ehrich out on a fly to third. Side out For Boulder, Clark struck out. Chase got first on balls and stole second. Clay made a sacrifice and moved Chase to third. Gamble out on fly to Carlson.

In the second Harrington made a big hit but was forced out at second by March's grounder Carlson reached second on an error by short stop and March scored Griffith out on a grounder to short stop, and O Gillett struck out. Side out For Boulder. McCoy struck out Nichols got base on balls, stole second and third on an error by March. Southard struck out. Morrison hit and scored Robinson struck out.

The College was shut out by good pitching in the third and fourth, and Boulder scored one run in each.

Fifth inning: Packard reached first on an error by third and scored on P Gillett's beautiful two-bagger to center field fence. Lockhart got base on balls He and P Gillette score on Ehrich's hot grounder to short stop. Ehrich scored on Harrington's single. Harrington was forced out at second by March's infield hit, and March by Carlson's. Griffith singled and O. Gillette out on a fly at left field. Side out. For Boulder, Robinson reached first on Packard's error, but was caught by Carlson's throw to second. Clark got first on balls, and scored on Ehrich's failure to stop Chase's grounder. Clay moved Chase to third by a sacrifice, and Chase stole home Gamble reached first by March's error but McCoy fouled out to Carlson.

Sixth inning, the College was put out in one, two and three order. For Boulder, Nichols reached first on an error and second on Griffith's hit. Morrison out to Packard and Robinson hit to Packard who threw Nichols out at third. Robinson and Southard scored on Clark's three bagger to left field fence. Clark was caught at home by a pretty throw by Ehrich. Score then stood 8 to 7

In the seventh the College was put out in one, two, three order, and Boulder followed suit.

The Score Tied.

In the eighth the College again went down in one, two, three order. For Boulder, Southard tied the score by a home run hit to center field.

Ninth inning Packard out on a fly to third, who made a pretty catch. P. Gillette struck out. Lockhart reached first on an error by third. He stole second and third and scored on third's error This run won the game for the College Ehrich struck out. For Boulder, Chase went out to Harrington on a fly, a very hard catch. Clay crocked a home run over right field fence. Gamble went on a grounder to Harrington. McCoy out on a grounder to short.

Tenth inning. Harrington hit safe, March struck out, Carlson hit to short stop and forced out Harrington at second Carlson then stole second and third and scored on Griffith's pretty single over short stop. Griffith stole second, but was caught while stealing third. On a hot grounder, Nichols got out on a hot grounder to Packard. Southard reached first on an error by Lockhart and second on Morrison's hit, but was caught while trying to steal third Morrison stole second and third, but [illegible] to Packard and was put out at first.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburg-Boston.

Pittsburg May 15—Boston won from Pittsburg to-day because they were fortunate in their hitting and because Pittsburg could not bat Nichols at critical stages. The latter was touched up in the eighth inning, but that was the only time. Attendance, 2,300. Score: Pittsburg, 6, Boston, 8.

Louisville-Philadelphia.

Louisville, May 15—McGill's wildness and timely hitting by the Louisvilles won the game for the Colonels. Score: Louisville, 9, Philadelphia, 3.

St. Louis-Washington.

St. Louis, May 15.—The best game of the season here resulted to-day in victory for the Browns. But one hit was made off Breitenstein up to the ninth inning. Mercer's pitching was also fine, and the game was sharp Attendance, 1,500. Score: St. Louis, 5, Washington, 2.

Cleveland-New York.

Cleveland, O., May 15—Cleveland defeated New York to-day by hard hitting. Wilson was a puzzle to Irwin's men when hits were needed. The game was full of good fielding plays by both teams. Score: Cleveland, 10, New York, 4

Chicago-Baltimore.

Chicago, May 15—Chicago batted McMahon hard all the way through to-day and had no trouble in winning. The features were Dahlen's batting and the general fielding of the colts. Score: Chicago, 8, Baltimore, 7.

DUN'S REVIEW.

Weekly Summary of Trade and Commercial Conditions.

New York, May 15—R. G. Dun & Co. will say to-morrow in their Weekly Review of Trade.

Failures for the week have been 221 in the United States against 211 last year and 23 in Canada against 37 last year. It is now the middle of May, too late for business to change materially until the prospects of coming crops are assured, and definite shape has been given to the Presidential contest by the conventions. Until the future is more clear there is a prudent disinclination to produce much beyond orders or to order beyond immediate and certain needs If this waiting spirit prevails two months longer it will crowd into the last half of the year an enormous business if the outlook then is good. For the present there is less business than a year ago, though in some branches and the delay following month's of depression is to many trying and the cause of numerous failures Speculative markets are comparatively inactive, but the stock market is stagnant and the average price of railroad stocks has declined less than 1 per cent. for the week and the average of trust stocks only about ½ of 1 per cent.

An attempt was made to manufacture excitement in cotton out of the government report, but the price closed exactly as it began the week and the port receipts have been actually larger than last year.

All current arguments based on the assumption that the quantity used in manufacture had been or is now at a maximum rate are disproved by the closing of many mills for want of demand, and the general effort to reduce wages which has caused some strikes. Wheat is unchanged in spite of all rumors. The volume of domestic business though large in some branches, is represented by payments through clearing houses 13.3 per cent. smaller than last year. The railroad earnings have been for the first week of May 3.8 per cent. larger than last year, showing a trifle better than the returns for April.

The most fortunate of the chief industries at present is the boot and shoe manufacture, which is not only shipping to customers within 6 per cent. of the largest number of cases ever forwarded in the first half of May, but is getting many new orders, and there are many urgent requests to anticipate orders for June and July delivery indicating that distribution to consumers has outrun executions. Prices are unchanged at the lowest average ever had, but there is a rather rapid advance in hides at Chicago and leather begins to stiffen a little.

The iron and steel industry, on the other hand, is pronounced as dull as it ever has been at Pittsburg, in part because of doubt about the maintenance of prices recently advanced, and the demand is so small that in spite of such advances prices average 1.2 per cent. lower for the week. Bessemer pig being no higher than it was three months ago, and No. 1 Anthracite lower. The attempt to hold common bar at 1.2 cents leads many large consumers to prefer steel bars which sell at 1.1 cent, and prices of nails are expected to be reduced by reason of scanty demand. There is much promise for future structural work, but orders are deferred.

Textile mills are not yet gaining. Enormous bargain sales of cotton dress goods and of ready made woolen clothing have hindered orders at any price which the mills can afford to take, and most have partly supplied the needs of consumers. For some cotton goods a more active demand appears and low grade bleached are an eighth higher, but Lonsdale and Fruit of Loom 4 by 4 goods are out to 6½ cents, and unsold stocks of many kinds are heavy. Curtailment of production, partly by intention and partly by differences about wages has not yet brought the improvement hoped for. Sales of wool have been a little larger the past week. The large drives in clothing have caused the sale of some ready made concerns, but check new business and the general disposition is to postpone orders as far as possible.

Debating on Silver.

Omaha, Neb., May 15 Hon. W. J. Bryan and Editor Rosewater of The Bee, met in debate to-night on the silver question before an audience that filled the largest auditorium in Omaha. Mr. Bryan attempted to force his opponent to explain the depreciation in money, but the noted journalist avoided the subject. Mr. Rosewater apparently played several times into the hands of his enemies, and became flustrated before the crowd which was apparently of the silver persuasion. His friends admit that he was not at his best, although his opening remarks were forceful and clear.

Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, May 15—Robert E. Edwards, formerly an employe of the Pullman Palace Car company, with a home at Pittsburg, Pa., committed suicide in this city to-night, after first shooting his wife in the temple. Mrs. Edwards may recover. Edwards has been out of work and this, together with jealousy, is supposed to be the cause for the suicide and attempted murder

Verdict for Powderly.

Philadelphia, May 15.—A verdict was rendered to-day in the Common Pleas Court against James R. Sovereign, general master workman and the general executive board of the Knights of Labor for $4,873 in favor of Terence V. Powderly, ex-master workman, who claimed that amount for balance due him for services as master workman of the order. The suit has been pending since Sovereign succeeded Powderly as head of the order.

EVIDENCE OF BUTCHERIES.

Letter from Mantanzas Backed by Affidavits.

INHUMAN SPANISH BARBARITIES.

Non-Combatants, Men, Women and Children Fired on by Spanish Troops—Why Fighting is Prohibited—Near San Severino.

Philadelphia, May 15.—An afternoon paper to-day printed the following story:

No more forcible evidence of the butchery of unarmed and unprotected Cubans by the Spanish troops could be adduced than by advices received in this city this afternoon from Matanzas, Cuba, which graphically depict the barbarous and inhuman means employed by the Spanish soldiers in their war against the Cubans. The letter was dated May 9 and reached this city through private sources for the reason, as cited in the communication that all letters that go via Havana postoffice are tampered with and frequently do not reach their destination. It was pointed out that letters containing [illegible] against the Spanish government, lead to the imprisonment and often to the death of the writer.

The letter received here this afternoon started out with the statement that 54 non-combatants, men, women and children, were met by a Spanish column under Col. Aldea in the town of Savanilla, near Matanzas, and fired upon by his orders. Twenty-seven were killed instantly and the rest fled into a cane field, which was set on fire by the troops and all perished in the flames and the bodies were left as food for the buzzards.

Another was the case of two bodies of white men, which were found on the shores of Matanzas Bay. These bodies were lashed together, and there was no mistakable evidence of having been killed by machete. The discovery of the bodies caused a great sensation and now the authorities are trying to make out that it was the work of the insurgents. The writer points out that this is ridiculous for the reason that the insurgents are not in possession of Matanzas, and that the men were political prisoners confined in San Severino castle, where assassinations of this kind are said to be carried on almost nightly, and the bodies cast into the bay have been found with weights attached to their feet. In the case in point the writer says the weights must have become loosened and the bodies floated ashore In a case before this, it is stated that fishermen brought up in their nets bodies tied together with weights and since then the fishing has been prohibited near the fort.

Affidavits to all these facts are in possession of the person who wrote the letter.

WEYLER'S PROCLAMATION.

Farmers Must Transport All Grain Into Towns.

Havana, May 15. Capt. Gen. Weyler has issued proclamation ordering the farmers and peasantry during the next 20 days to transport to the towns in their vicinity all the corn and other grain stored upon their farms.

This order applies to the provinces of Pinar Del Rio, Havana and Matanzas. The military quartermasters are authorized by this order to purchase the grain sent to the towns by the farmers at the current price and if the grain is not required by the government it will be stored for the account of its owners.

After the period of 20 days has elapsed, the prosecution of any grain found upon farms in the provinces mentioned will be regarded as contraband of war and will be seized and the owners thereof subjected to criminal proceedings.

The rebel leader Manuel Romero was shot this morning at Cienfuegos.

Manuel Martinez Orega, convicted of the crime of rebellion will be shot in the Cabanas fortress to-morrow morning.

Sixty Thousand Troops.

Madrid, May 15.—It is stated today that the military expedition that will be dispatched to Cuba in September will probably number 60,000, instead of 20,000, first decided upon. The government has approved of a proposal to send a circular note to the powers regarding Cuba and its relations with the United States.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Two Ballots Taken Without Resulting Election.

Cleveland, O., May 15.—One of the most interesting things to-day in connection with the first ballot was the extraordinary lead obtained by the colored candidate, Dr. Bowen. It is an undisputed fact that the reduction of the number of bishops to be elected from three, to two was intended to shut out a colored candidate, but it seemed as though the conference had awakened to the fact, and was determined to give the brainy African a fair field and favor. The vote was certainly a surprise to those who do not want a colored bishop.

The second ballot swept Chaplin McCabe to the head of the field and added 23 to Dr. Bowen's figures, thus making the probabilities appear to be McCabe and Bowen. The votes were: C. C. McCabe, 128; J. W. Bowen, 75; Earl Cranston, 164; J. W. Hamilton, 145; H. A. Buntz, 86; T. B. Neely, 46; J. R. Day, 27; J. F. Goucher, 16; C. W. Smith, 24; S. F. Upham, 19

There being no election a third ballot was taken and the tellers instructed to report after the reading of the journal to-morrow morning. The conference then adjourned.

Public Land Bills.

Washington, May 15. The House Committee on Public Lands to-day favorably reported bills authorizing the appointment of a commission, to examine and classify certain lands in California along the Central Pacific railroad grant; appropriating $12,000 for the payment of certain improvements made in the Yellowstone Park and for reimbursement purchasers and settlers on even numbered sections of public lands within limits of Congressional grants in cases of forfeiture of odd numbered grants.

Ill Health the Cause.

Ottumwa, Ia., May 15.—Mrs. Harland Scott, wife of the pastor of the Christian church at Paris, Davis county, suicided last night. She took a double-barrelled shotgun, and, placing the butt on the ground, pulled the trigger. Ill health was the cause. Mrs. Scott was a daughter of D. T. Stark, a prominent stockman of Moravia, and leaves a husband and six children.

Sufficient Cause.

Toledo, O., May 15.—John Vosburg of Bryan, O., who is widely known all over the State as a stock raiser, suddenly became insane last night, while singing "

MARK HANNA AND SENATOR QUAY.

Both Are to Some Extent Misunderstood.

HANNA IS A HERO WORSHIPER.

Senator Wolcott Says Quay Is One of the Most Whole Souled Men He Ever Knew—He Is Bright Brained and Well Balanced.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—[Special.]—At the national Republican convention, which will meet in a month at St. Louis, it is safe to say that the most influential man will be Mark Hanna of Cleveland, and next to him Senator Quay. I understand that both Hanna and Quay will be at St. Louis, the latter notwithstanding the fact that he is a candidate. Perhaps it would be impossible to find anywhere in the United States two shrewder and more successful politicians than Quay and Hanna. Both are, to some extent, misunderstood men. Both are supposed to be selfish and grasping, eager for power, domineering and always having an eye open to the main chance. This is a mistake as to both of them. It is commonly said in Washington and elsewhere that the nomination and election of McKinley will virtually make Mark Hanna president of the United States; that he will be the man behind the throne, and McKinley only the figurehead. I have made careful inquiries about this among the men who know both McKinley and Hanna and find there is little or no foundation for such a theory.

McKinley's Methods.

Major McKinley is much like other men we know in public or private life, in that his methods are soft and gentle. He loves to get along without friction and believes the easiest way to handle men is through their good nature, their vanity, their friendly side. If McKinley had the choice of attaining an object in view by harsh methods or soft ones, he would choose the latter every time. All his career has shown this. But this light upon his character by no means reveals weakness. Having accomplished what he set out for, there is no man who likes to have his own way any better than this pleasant spoken Ohio statesman. He is essentially Scotch in his characteristics, with just enough Irish admixture to make him genial and pleasant. But the Scotch in him permits no man to put him in leading strings. A gentleman who has known McKinley intimately all his life said this to me about him:

"Make no mistake about McKinley. From the first moment he sets foot in the White House he will be his own master. He will be as easy and gentle there as he has always been. He will listen to a great deal of advice. But in the end he will follow out his own judgment, will have his own way. McKinley is thoroughly well balanced. He is a deliberate sort of man. He likes to hear all sides. He has lots of patience. He does not rush off and do important things impulsively. But when the time for decision comes you will find him right there in his own right, fully confident of himself and completely his own master."

Big Hearted Hanna.

"Then you do not take much stock in the theory that Mark Hanna will really be the president?"

"Not the slightest. Nor does any other man who knows anything of the facts and of the temperament of the two men. I have told you what sort of a man McKinley is. Now let me tell you something about Hanna. He is one of those great, big hearted, big brained chaps common to our American life whose first ambition in life is to make a pot of money. After that is done they love to interest themselves in some fad, in horses, in colleges, in religious work, this, that or the other. Mr. Hanna makes a fad out of his friends. He is essentially a hero worshiper, as most rugged, virile men are."

"Then if McKinley is nominated and elected you do not think Hanna will want to come to Washington and pose as the man behind the throne?"

"Of course not. I have heard Mark Hanna say that he was going to come down here to see his friend inaugurated and to take one dinner with him in the White House, just as a sort of jollification, and that then he was going back home to stay there and attend to his own business, leaving Mr. McKinley to attend to his. I know Mr. Hanna well enough to know that he means what he says. He will be so afraid of being accused of meddling with the administration that I dare say he will lean over backward in trying to keep away, just as Mr. Whitney did in his desire not to be thought as influential with President Cleveland during the present term. If McKinley wants Hanna's advice, he will have to send for it."

Points About Quay.

Senator Quay has been the head and front of the opposition to McKinley. He is looked upon here as the greatest politician in the United States, as the man with the brightest brain and best balance and greatest resources. Not a move has been made in the effort of the field candidates to defeat McKinley that Quay's advice was not asked about beforehand. Plenty of things have been proposed that Quay would not indorse. For instance, it was at one time suggested that a bitter attack be made upon McKinley personally, using such matters as his failure in business some years ago and the fact that his debts were paid by the same friends who are now pressing him for president, "with a mortgage on him," as some people think. Mr. Quay put a stop to that. "It is foolish politics," he said. "Attack McKinley that way, and you do him more good than harm. You rouse sympathy for him. Besides it is unjust. There is no justification for such an attack. You should you fall to remember that Mr. McKinley is a Republican and that he may be nominated, and that we shall all support him and do our best to make him president."

No one in the senate knows Quay better than Senator Wolcott of Colorado, and I asked Wolcott one day to tell me what sort of a man Quay was from an insider's point of view. "He is a prince among men," replied Wolcott. "He is one of the most generous men I ever knew. Instead of always looking out for himself, always scheming to what he can get, as most people seem to think, he is ever trying to do something for his friends. He has been in this presidential fight more to help his friend Platt than for any other purpose. Quay is a man who will die in the last ditch for his friends, and that is the secret of his power up in Pennsylvania. He is admired by the Republicans of his state, and though the quietest man we have here in the senate he is one of the most popular. Matt Quay is a great man and an admirable man."

The Dilatory Senate.

According to the present outlook, congress will adjourn about the end of the month or during the first week in June. Though the resolution passed by the house provided for adjournment next Monday, it does not now seem possible that the work of the session can be finished up by that day. As usual, the senate is the dilatory body. If there ever was a session of congress in which the senate was not the last to conclude its labors, that fact has escaped the historians. Speaker Reed's ambition to beat all records for early adjournment is still likely to be gratified, though by a rather close call. It was at his suggestion that the ways and means committee reported the resolution calling for adjournment next Monday, though without any hope that the senate would be ready to quit on that date. The speaker knew that some date was necessary in order to force the rather slow and ponderous body at the other end of the capitol to stir itself, and he was well aware that if he set the 18th the actual adjournment could possibly be effected by the end of the month. While the present outlook is that the session may be wound up in another fortnight, greatly to the relief of the people, who are in the attitude of mind toward congress that the small boy said he was toward his mother when he asked her why his papa didn't get a new wife—"'Cause I'so tired seein' you around!"—there is always the possibility that something will happen to delay the glad day indefinitely. As I write the Du Pont case is coming to a head, and it bids fair to be stubbornly contested. This is only one of a number of matters which may produce delay, though leading men of both houses and both political parties say they are anxious to get away.

Precious Little Has Been Done.

It cannot be truthfully said that the session now drawing to a close has been satisfactory to the majority party. There is so much that many people think ought to be done by congress, and so little has been done, that many persons are disposed to call the first session a failure. As I predicted in those dispatches last fall would be the case, congress has done precious little besides pass the appropriation bills.

During the latter part of the closing session Senator Hill has come to the front very fast as one of the leading debaters of the upper branch. Even those observers who do not like Mr. Hill are forced to admit that he has shown himself to be a man of genius and force in the senate. When he first came to Washington he was almost without friends in that body. I have never known a man of Mr. Hill's former prominence in politics and public affairs to be so coldly received by his fellow senators as he was. At one time it looked as if there was a conspiracy to "down" him, and he seemed to be almost entirely without friends. Mr. Hill is one of those men who are temperamentally disinclined to make advances. He likes friends as well as any one, and if a man seeks him out and engages him in conversation he can be as genial and pleasant as the next one. But he will not do the seeking. A year ago Mr. Hill was rarely seen in friendly conversation with other members of the senate, and by many of them he was looked at askance.

Respect For Senator Hill.

Now the New Yorker has won a high place for himself in the American house of lords. He cannot even now be said to be popular, but respect for him has increased mightily since he took the floor as a debater. He loves to talk. There is no mistake about that. At every opportunity he addresses the presiding officer and sails in, and when he does the senate and the galleries have learned to expect something interesting. Hill has vastly improved as a public speaker, and his delivery is now much less stilted than it was formerly. He still finds it necessary to use copious notes, but he has shown that on occasion he can speak extemporaneously and effectively. His debate with Pitchfork Tillman was one of the sensations of the winter, and it was generally conceded that Mr. Hill bore off the honors in that combat.

Tillman is in many respects the most remarkable man we have had in the senate in recent years. That he is thoroughly honest and sincere in his belief that the masses of the people are being ground under the iron heel of Wall street no one doubts. That he is one of the smartest and brightest men that ever came to congress with "a mission" is obvious to all who have heard him talk. But in the senate he is like a cat in a strange garret. He is anxious enough to conform to the rules of that rather staid old body and to observe all the amenities of debate, for Tillman is not fool enough to imagine any man can thrive by quarreling with the rules of procedure. But he is constitutionally unable to do so. He appears to imagine while on his feet that he is talking to one of his South Carolina audiences. He loves to use adjectives which have never been considered polite in the senate, to walk to and fro and swing his arms, to attack people more or less personally.

Incident of Tillman.

One of the funniest incidents I have ever seen in the senate was when the presiding officer warned Tillman that he must observe the rules and not interrupt another senator without first addressing the chair. Tillman at once perceived that he had infracted that rule and promised better behavior in the future. But within ten seconds he jumped to his feet and interrupted Mr. Hill without addressing the chair. On realizing what he had done he felt as ashamed of himself as a big boy at school who has unconsciously violated the rules. He proceeded metaphorically to "kick" himself for his blunder, and literally placed his hands over his face to hide his blushes and leaned his head down upon his desk and butted his forehead against the oak, as much as to say to himself, "Tillman, you fool, you ought to have more sense!" It was a rather undignified procedure, but a close observer could see that Tillman is a man of exalted courage, of terrible earnestness, and yet with the instincts of a gentleman he valued the good opinion of his fellows as to his behavior in minor matters. It is the fashion to denounce Tillman as a boor and demagogue, but it would be well to suspend judgment till we have further opportunity to watch him. He certainly is the most picturesque and interesting man in the present congress.

WALTER WELLMAN.

Mirrors In Folklore.

In the pleasant regions of folklore the mirror holds a fairly prominent place. To break one is considered an unlucky affair, a notion which is one of the most prevalent and persistent of modern superstition. In many parts of England seven years of trouble is considered the penalty for such an accident, but the still more serious Scottish people regard it as a sign that a member of the family will soon die.

In the south of England it is looked upon as a bad omen for a bride on her wedding morning to take a last peep at the glass before starting for church, and the struggle between superstition and vanity is no doubt very keen. The Swedish girls are afraid to look in the glass after dark, or by artificial light, lest they should forfeit the good opinion of the other sex. Most people still appear to regard it as a bad omen to see the new moon for the first time through a window pane or reflected in a mirror.

In some districts the practice of covering the looking glass or removing it in the presence of death still exists. The reason for this is not very obvious, though Mr. Baring Gould says there is a popular notion that, if a person looks into a mirror in the chamber of death, he will see the corpse looking over his shoulder. Such superstitions seem to suggest a near approach to the primitive modes of thought of the men who found mirrors in stones and glasses in the running brook. Chambers' Journal.

A Generous and Thoughtful Wife.

The Husband. Well, dearest, did you get your hat?

The Wife (just home from shopping). Yes, darling, and it is a beauty, and, just think, it cost only $22. I'm ever so much obliged to you for the money, and for your kindness I have bought you a new necktie. It is very pretty, isn't it?

The Husband. It is indeed, darling. What did you pay for it?

The Wife (blushing). It isn't the cost that makes the thing valuable, you know, but the spirit in which it is given. It cost 17 cents. New York Press.

For sale by Colorado Springs Drug Co.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is the question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with.

One swallow does not make spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

The method pursued by the Nickel Plate road, by which his agents figure rates as low as the lowest, seems to meet the requirements of the traveling public. No one should think of purchasing a ticket to Buffalo N. E. A. convention during July until they first inquire what the rate is over the Nickel Plate road. For particulars write J. Y. Calahan, General Agent, 111 Adams street, Chicago Ill.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50 cents per bottle, at Baker & Co.'s drug store.

Mr. D. P. Davis, a prominent liveryman and merchant of Goshen, Va. has this to say on the subject of rheumatism: "I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, as I know from personal experience that it will do all that is claimed for it. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. Colorado Springs Drug Co.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

The intense itching and smarting incident to eczema, tetter, salt-rheum, and other diseases of the skin is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. Many very bad cases have been permanently cured by it. It is equally efficient for itching piles and a favorite remedy for sore nipples, chapped hands, chilblains, frost bites, and chronic sore eyes. For sale by druggists at 25 cents per box.

Try Dr. Cady's Condition Powders, they are just what a horse needs when in bad condition. Tonic, blood purifier and vermifuge.

FORFEITURE NOTICE.

Camp Round-Mountain, Colorado, January 8th, 1896.

To Eldon P. Edwards:

You are hereby notified that I have expended during the year 1895 the sum of two hundred and ten dollars in labor and improvements upon the Miantonomoh lode, situate on Windys Hill, in Round-Mountain Mining district of El Paso county, State of Colorado, the location certificate of which is found on record in the office of the recorder of said county, and forty-two dollars for labor and improvements upon the Miantonomoh Ditch and Water Right, located together with said lode. These sums being the amount required to hold said lode and water right claims for the year ending December 31st, A. D. 1895; and in order to hold said claims under and by virtue of the provisions of the revised statutes of the United States, and the amendments thereto. And if, within ninety days after the publication of this notice, you fail or refuse to contribute your proportion of such expenditures as a co-owner, your interest in the said claims will become the property of the undersigned, your co-owner, who has made the required expenditures, by the terms of said statutes.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health.

If you Must Pay Rent

Don't wear out your patience and shoes, but come to our office and let us drive you to the houses we have. We can sell you a home about as cheap as what your rent will be, and have a large number of decided bargains in choice, modern houses. Read over the list below; these are a few, but we have others.

Cozy Heights, 10 room house, newly papered, electric lights, bath, furnace pipes; 4 cottages, 4 tents, 2 acres of ground; all furnished; also, a surrey and harness and piano, go with property, very cheap, easy terms.

THE PUEBLO CONVENTIONS

The convention is over, and the details of its proceedings have been published, but there is always a good deal that happens in a convention [illegible] In fact, the most interesting part of a convention generally is the preliminaries and interludes. Sometimes it takes more work to prevent certain things from being done than it does to pass motions and resolutions.

The El Paso county delegation was a thoroughly representative one, and it has made a consistent record for straight Republicanism. There were several things which it tried to do. In some of them it failed; in some, it succeeded.

The first contest in the District convention came on the appointment of a committee on resolutions. Believing that there was a better chance of getting conservative resolutions from a small committee, the delegation tried to have a committee of seven or nine named by the chairman. This got all the small counties afire. Some of them had only one or two representatives, but they wanted a place on the committees. Pueblo went with them, and they carried the amendment to have a committee consisting of one from each county. El Paso named Col. Ed. F. Browne as its member, and he was made chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the resolutions. The other six members of that subcommittee were all bull silver-or-nothing men, and he had a hard fight to get the resolutions as mild as they were. He did succeed in getting an endorsement of the whole delegation in Congress, including Senator Wolcott, of course; but he could not prevent the insertion of the resolution commending Senator Teller for voting against the Dingley tariff bill.

The next important matter was the election of district delegates. El Paso voted for Brickenstein and Rockefellow, believing them both to be straight Republicans. Rockefellow was not elected as district delegate, but afterwards was chosen as one of the delegates-at-large.

In the State convention, the platform and the selection of delegates were again the most important matters. The platform committee were out nearly four hours, but when they came in their report was unanimous. It was not entirely satisfactory, but it was much more so than the district platform. Mr. Nalle, Senator Wolcott's partner, moved the adoption of the resolutions, and there was no opposition to them.

For delegates-at-large, after Mr. Teller had been selected, El Paso supported Frank Goudy, Cavender of Lake, and Rockefellow. The Mears combination was Goudy, Downing and Guggenheim. The vote was so close except on Goudy that no one except the official tellers were sure who had the higher number, Downing, Rockefellow, Cavender or Guggenheim. If Lake county had kept count and notified the friends of Cavender that he needed a few more votes, it is perhaps possible that enough changes might have been secured to put him in; but nobody knew that he was behind until it was too late. Of these three delegates selected, Goudy and Rockefellow are supposed to be straight Republicans. In favor of staying in the St. Louis convention to the end.

There was some little sentiment, in some of the mountain counties, in favor of a resolution condemning Mr. Wolcott. If any such resolution had come up, the El Paso delegation would have fought it to a finish, by all parliamentary means. Fortunately there was no need of a fight on that; and the resolutions as adopted by the State convention commend the whole Republican delegation.

On the whole, the platform is a good one, and at least a majority of the whole delegation are straight Republicans. El Paso county did not work altogether in vain, and the delegation put itself on record, in a dignified way, for straight Republican principles.

Talk among the delegates from all parts of the State showed that there is a very strong Republican sentiment, that will be heard next fall no matter what the St. Louis convention may do. The vote secured by El Paso county on a resolution condemning any bolt was rather surprisingly strong. If Pueblo county had gone with the straight Republicans on that motion, it would have carried. As it was, the majority against it was only 3. To say the least, there is great reason to hope that the whole Republican party of the State will stay Republican; and it is certain that there will be a Republican electoral ticket.

One of the remarkable things about the convention was the small number of women delegates. Outside of Arapahoe county, there were hardly more than a dozen. There were none at all from El Paso, all those who had been elected having preferred to send proxies.

Speaking of the Arapahoe delegation, one might have supposed from reading the Denver Republican and News, that it was composed of the offscourings of the capital city. But, as usual, those two papers did not tell the truth. It was as good a delegation as Arapahoe county ever sent to any convention. The members acted like ladies and gentlemen, and with the exception of a few minutes before the poll of the delegation on the delegates-at-large, they maintained admirable order. Stevenson had them under good control, too. The convention enjoyed a hearty laugh early in the proceedings at one proof of his leadership. Vick Roy jumped to his feet to make some kind of a motion, and addressed the chair. The chair was about to recognize him, when Stevenson pointed his finger at Vick Roy, and said in an audible voice, and with some emphasis, "Sit down." And Vick dropped as though he had been shot.

Another of the humors of the convention was a remark attributed—whether truly or not is Mr. Otto Mears. He was talking about the election of delegates the night before the convention; and he is reported to have said: "We have it all arranged. We will send Mr. Guggenheim, Mr. Downing, and Mr. Goudy. The other one we will leave the convention to select." Wasn't it Dean Richmond of whom a similar story is told, about a Democratic convention in New York State? The leaders had fixed up a slate for the offices, and the conference was about to adjourn, when somebody said, "We have forgotten to name a candidate for Superintendent of Schools." "Never mind," said Richmond, "we will leave that to the convention."

A clever hit was made by "Bud" Baldwin late Thursday night—or rather early Friday morning. Senator Bennyke had been nominated for alternate. A member from San Juan had seconded the nomination, saying in a magnificent way, that he seconded the nomination in behalf of the great Southwest. Another record had claimed to represent the Western Slope. Baldwin got up and said, "Mr. Chairman, in behalf of the people of the United States I second the nomination." It raised a great laugh.

One very notable thing about the two conventions was the lack of oratory. The only "set" speech was made by Dr. Grass when he took the chair, and he sawed it off short. Nobody else attempted to orate at all. Even when the convention had to wait two hours for the committee on resolutions to get ready to report, and there were frequent calls for a speech, no one would volunteer.

After Frank Goudy was elected a delegate-at-large, they did succeed in getting him to say a few words, but he hardly occupied two minutes. He was careful in what he said, but he did say that he was sure that if the Republicans of Colorado had to make a choice next fall between three parties, no matter what their platforms, with either Allison or Reed or McKinley as the Republican candidate, with Cleveland as the Democratic candidate, and with some such man as Weaver or Tillman for the third party candidate, under whatever name, there was no doubt where the Republicans of Colorado would be found.

On the whole, considering the possibilities there were of splits and fights and general dissatisfaction, the result of the convention is better than could have been expected. The party presents a united front; there has been no split; the party organization remains intact and the prospects of carrying the State for a Republican Governor are distinctly better than they were a week ago. For this happy result, the greatest share of credit by far belongs to Senator Wolcott. With an unselfishness and a loyalty to his colleague which every one must acknowledge, he subordinated himself entirely, and did everything possible to secure harmony. His friends in all the conventions loyally carried out his wishes on the same line, although in many cases they went against their own desires and their own judgment in doing so. The Denver papers have been doing their worst to stir up strife between the two Senators, and in the Republican party generally. It is due mainly to Mr. Wolcott that they have not succeeded.

British journalists remark, every once in a while, that it is fortunate that foreign powers waited about making trouble for England until she had a ministry with a good majority at its back, and one calculated to deal vigorously with foreign complications. They never surmise apparently, that the willing vigor in dealing with foreign powers preceded the complications. Senator Ingalls used to say that the United States did not want a navy to go swaggering around the world, kerling us into trouble. This is apparently just what England's jingo ministry has done, and when there was work ahead too bold for responsible officials to undertake, irresponsible raiders were conveniently ready to go forward with it.

A lady who has been studying the household departments of certain weekly papers complains that according to what she is there taught one can not expect to be properly clean on an income of less than four thousand dollars a year. She has further concluded that the responsibilities involved in the raising of children are so great that a parent who understands them all must die early of nervous prostration. The only consolation we can give her is the reflection that the editors of household departments usually prefer to write for the rich, and that they are also tempted at times to preach what no one can practice, because the columns must be filled with something that sounds well.

The papers opposed to civil service reform continue to make ill-natured remarks about the motives of President Cleveland in placing 9,000 additional positions in the classified service. The opportunity to extend the classified service by administrative order has been attractive towards the close of their respective terms, to every President from Arthur down, although none have done anything like as much as Cleveland. The reformers secured more than their opponents supposed when it passed.

The single-taxers are much excited about the campaign in Delaware, but apparently Delaware does not plan to get much excited about the single-tax campaign. In this little State the constitution imposes no restrictions on the legislature as to the system of taxation that may be adopted, so it has been selected as a proper place for a single-tax agitation. While those outside the State continue to send in money there is no doubt that a big noise can be kept up, but it is not so clear that any particular impression will be made.

We notice in one of the religious exchanges an article explaining the difference between the church in politics and politics in the church. Notes on the latter subject might be readily collected at the Cleveland conference, now in session. One brother remarked that "a sharp, shrewd minister can give pointers in political methods that any politician would do well to heed." In fact the modern minister has to know a lot of things that he is not commonly credited with knowing, and in his own line must always be a politician of some ability.

Facing the Truth.

There is not a particle of use for any Colorado newspaper to assert that the voters of the State are a unit for free coinage as against either the Republican or Democratic party. To make such a statement is to simply lie.

There are hundreds of men in both the Republican and Democrat parties who consider party away above the silver issue. There are Republicans in great number who stand upon the same ground as does Wolcott and they are not those who ask or desire office. There are Democrats, too, who would vote for Cleveland should he be re-nominated—despite his strongly-pronounced single-standard views.

The entire State is on edge—one of Beecher's "ragged edges"—and every town has its quota of those who favor silver before party—as well as those who consider party far in advance of silver—or any other issue. To say that but one per cent. of Colorado's voters favor party first is putting the figures far too low. Place it at twenty per cent. and one has a far better idea of how party feelings will permeate a man's sentiments.

No matter what one's personal feelings are a newspaper maker should tell the truth—and the man that writes that every Republican in the State (barring one per cent.) favors silver above every other issue deliberately lies.—(Loveland Reporter.

SOCIALISM IN BELGIUM.

Its Rapid Growth and Great Strength. Indifference to Royalty.

[Special Correspondence.]

BRUSSELS, May 4.—The growth of socialism in Europe has been so rapid in recent years that Americans generally do not begin to realize its strength. Who among you can conceive that in France the Socialist party has over 50 delegates in the national assembly, in Germany 46, and that in the latter country at the last general elections its numerical strength exceeded that of any other party by almost 1,000,000 votes? Yet though Germany is thus advanced her kindred state of Holland, while somewhat agitated, gives to the government no serious cause of alarm, and to many it seems that in this condition lies the party's most formidable element of strength.

In Belgium a young man does not attain his majority till 25 years of age. Though the opinion might be held that the advanced ideas which the students undoubtedly hold and outwardly profess on leaving the universities would be modified, if not completely uprooted, by the reflection of the three or four years which must elapse before a voice in the government is granted them, this has proved not to be the case. To the poorer and consequently the greater number of these men a career of teaching of necessity presents itself as the life work for which they are most fitted, and they frequently become privat docents, or, as they are there termed, repetitours in the athenaeums or other schools controlled by the government. I think it will not be denied that the position of teacher on a salary of $200 or $300 a year would most effectively tend to dispel the illusions of youth, yet their political views do not change. These well educated, thinking young men go unconcernedly to the polls and vote the labor ticket. If it is headed by a miner or a factory hand, so much the better. The more complete is the expression of the idea to which they are devoted.

In the two Flanders, on the contrary, though socialism is largely advocated, as yet it has not obtained the full recognition that it has met with elsewhere. If the character and the different conditions of the two races are considered, this is not surprising.

Throughout the kingdom to me the most surprising feature is the indifference to royalty. King Leopold II, a lame old man with a gray beard, passes unheralded through the streets. No hat is doffed at his coming, and no cry of "Vive le roi!" is raised. If I mention this fact with astonishment, the unaffected Belgian will probably smile, shrug his shoulders and murmur, "Le roi de carton" ("the pasteboard king"). By that title he is known, and indeed the appellation is strikingly fit. He is but a figurehead and not even a revered one.

Never has the Socialist party so completely demonstrated its hold on the people of Belgium as in the spring of 1893. It was then that the question of universal suffrage, so long agitated, was finally considered. Until then the great body of the working class, unless possessed of a certain amount of property, had been debarred from its exercise. The spirit of the house of representatives was adverse to the accordance of this long demanded right. The Clericals, or Conservatives, were in strong majority in both houses. A bill providing universal suffrage pure and simple, introduced by M. Jannsens, then the leader of the Radical party, was promptly voted down. As promptly the Socialist leaders issued their fiat, every member of a trade union, and consequently an enrolled member of the party, must join in a general strike to bring pressure on the government. Not a dissenting voice was heard. On the following Monday every factory was idle, every coal mine shut down. A member of the Right, M. Nansens, then introduced a compromise bill granting the suffrage to every Belgian over 25 years of age, with a plural vote resting on proprietary or educational qualifications. This the Socialists, and consequently the people, accepted. But the legislature still delayed. An angry mob of 10,000 people daily surrounded the legislative building, and throughout the country endless processions of determined men bearing red banners and placards of "Vive la revolution!" filed through the streets. The outlook became ominous. The chamber of deputies bowed perforce to the will of the people, and, amid the triumphant shouts of the exultant populace, the Nansens bill was passed. So ended perhaps the first political strike on record. It had been successful.

The general elections under the new law were to take place in June, but a decree postponed them to October. The parties to propose candidates for those elections were four—the Clericals (whose chief aim is opposition to all progress or reform; the Liberals, with no particular end in view save opposition to the Clericals; the Progressistes, made up of younger men who had revolted from the Liberals, and the Socialists. Only three tickets were in the field, however, for a coalition was effected between the Progressistes and Socialists, who presented to the country a Radico-Socialist platform. The result of these elections was complex. One thing was certain—there were no longer any Liberals. The intermediate party had been completely annihilated.

Nothing perhaps more thoroughly points out the inherent differences of the French and Dutch temperaments than the unequal strides made by the same party in Belgium. In the provinces of Liege, Hainaut and Brabant—in the last of these Brussels, the capital, is situate where the Gallic element is largely predominant, the socialist idea is essentially that of the people. The working classes almost to a man are avowed advocates of its principles, but not among them alone does it number its supporters. The universities are veritable hotbeds of socialism.

And now a word of the king. He is a man past 60 and has ruled the Belgians for many years, yet his political opinions are unknown, though speculation is rife concerning them. It has been persistently rumored that deposited in the governmental archives there rests a sealed letter, addressed to the Belgian people by the king, which is not to be opened till his death. What is in that letter? No one knows, but every one conjectures. Does he, seeing the resistless current of popular revolt which will ultimately sweep everything before it, absolve their allegiance to the dynasty and bid them do their will? Has the handwriting on the wall passed unperceived, or does he recognize its portent?—Does he, as Belshazzar of old, see and tremble at the words, "Mene, mene, tekel upharsin?" NATHANIEL MILLER.

IRLS' PRIZE MEDAL CONTEST.

ss Johnson Secured the J. F. Humphrey Medal.

E DELAMATIONS WERE GOOD.

were So Good that the Committee Had Difficulty in Making a Choice Miss Yerian Took Second and a Special Prize.

ast evening occurred the girls' declamation contest for the Humphrey medal, the girls of the High school. It was a by Miss Lillian May Johnson of the t class, and Miss Olive Pauline Yerof the fourth class was given second e with a special prize.

or several years past the young men the High school have competed for a e, and their work has been very itorious. Hon. J. F. Humphrey indt that the young ladies should also e a chance to show what they can do, offered the medal which was given evening. It was designed at Kohlm & Randall's, and is a handsome e of work in gold, suitably inscribed. young ladies have taken a great deal nterest in the contest, and last evendemonstrated that there are many d readers among them, so many end the contest that the program last ning was quite long.

spite of the stormy night there was good sized audience present. On the gram were several musical numbers. s Ophelia Lang gave a piano recital was an excellent opening for the rtainment. Mr. Robert Reid gave a r solo that was of much merit. He has one of the most pleasing voices he city, and is always accomodating ding his services for such entertaints. Miss Emma Kloepfer played a in solo. She is a pleasing musician, shows much talent for one so young popular High School Mandolin club ed the entertainment.

uring the evening Prof. Pattison inced the speakers. It is impossible efer to each speaker, although each deserved it. The young ladies wed that they had given hard work study in preparation. Many of them wed a poise and easy bearing that was arkable, and the reading of the lines intelligent in every case. Miss Johnthe prize winner, had selected as piece "The Fireman's Prayer," by well. It was a description of an le action, and while vividly pictured, got so dramatic as to tax the capacof even such a young declaimer. It decidedly well given. Miss Yerian, got the second place, gave Mark in's description of an old darky's ight of a steamboat race. Her dia was first class, and professional ers have given it here with less effect did the young lady last evening.

e judges were Mrs. W. F. Slocum, J. B. Gregg and Mr. Herman Camp. They had a hard time agreeing evily, but finally made a choice that was rently satisfactorily.—Mr. Gregg e the presentation in a handsome ch, in which he referred to Mr. Humys generosity and to the merit of the o.mance.

ss Yerian received as a prize a copy Tennyson's "Princess."

e twenty-second Annual Bulletin of rado College and Cutler Academy just appeared. It is an attractive me of 92 pages, containing more matthan has hitherto appeared in similar ications. The reader in search of initions by which to gauge the progress e during the past year, will turn fo the lists of trustees and faculty. the former he will observe that the se has now become free of even inal subjection to Eastern control. olorado institution, relying on the ingenuity and generosity of Colorado for its support, its trustees are no er as of old selected in about equal ortions from New England and the t. In fact, every trustee but one is itizen of this State; the one exception essing fitly to the honor and gratiwhich the name of Henry Cutler t ever inspire in those who know the ory of his beneficence. The roll of faculty shows this year no less than ames, including the teachers in the servatory of Music and the lecturers re the senior and junior classes. The ical faculty appears again on page nd the names are followed then by ight-page chapter devoted to the conatory, setting forth in detail its purs, and the courses of musical trainoffered to students under the director of Mr. Rubin Goldmark, with all an intending student from abroad ld need to know. Excluding the mu faculty and the lectures, the list ures 9-12 is reduced to 22. Of these, t appear for the first time in the presBulletin. Miss Jerry.

Frank E. Muller, one of the most ssful lyceum managers, takes pleasin announcing his first presentation he one, only and original picture "Miss Jerry," which will be seen Monday night at the Coliseum. Jerry" was conceived and executy that well-known journalist, Alexr Black, and is one of the most and meritorious of current attractions. As a matter of mere curiosity, aside from its worth, it will, no doubt, draw large audiences wherever presented. Thousands of people who have witnessed everything in the amusement line and who are pleased to consider themselves somewhat blasé, will find themselves eagerly waiting for the appearance of this new meteor in the dramatic firmament.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Superintendent Stevens of the Trinidad schools was a visitor on Monday.

A visitor Monday was Principal Brainard of the High school in Beatrice, Neb.

Several have been out of school on actions. As a matter of mere curiosity, Professor Henry Fulton of the State Normal School was a visitor at the school Thursday.

Superintendent Stoner of Nebraska City, Neb., visited the school Monday, and went through it pretty thoroughly.

On account of sickness Mr. Clark was not able to attend his duties the latter part of the last, and the beginning of this week. He came to school Wednesday and took up his regular work, however.

Two trainers have been hired for the training of the boys who will attend the Interscholastic meet in the latter part of May. The boys are training every day now, and are getting along pretty well. There will probably be about ten in the team who will represent the school at Denver.

On Wednesday at the drill of the Cadet company an invitation was read from the G. A. R., inviting the company to participate in the Decoration day exercises on May 30th. The company decided to accept the invitation, and to be in the parade.

The fifth class had a meeting Tuesday for the purpose of arranging for a picnic. A committee to look into the matter was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Pratt, Lood and Smith. The class decided to go to the Half Way house today, but Thursday the Committee reported, and it was decided to go next Saturday, and that one party should go visit the Half Way house and another go to Williams Canon.

The Athletic association had a meeting Wednesday, at which it was reported by the manager of the team that the College was desirous of having a meet with our team on Tuesday. The association decided to have the meet. Probably most of the team who will go up to Denver will go down from Manitou in this contest. The boys think they can give the College boys a pretty good contest all around, and it promises to be very interesting.

At the drill of the Cadet company on Wednesday the committee on camping reported. Captain Brayton stated that Green Mountain Falls is a good place to go, as it is only a few miles from Manitou, and it would be a short march up there, and also that it is a good place for the purpose. The number of those who expected to go was taken, and it was found that there would be forty. This would make a very good number. The captain reported that the committee thought that the total expense of the week's trip would not be more than $3 or $4 for each cadet.

Pearson's Stock Company.

A. G. Pearson's big stock company that has been playing in Denver for the last six weeks will open for a three nights' and Wednesday matinee engagement at the Coliseum on Tuesday, May 19th. This is said to be the best popular price attraction that has yet appeared in Colorado Springs. On Tuesday night the beautiful romance, "Land of the Midnight Sun," will be presented. The company number fifteen people and carries all the special scenery for each play. The prices will be 10, 20 and 30 cents, and for the Wednesday matinee 10 and 20 cents. On Tuesday night, May 19th, every lady accompanied by one paid ticket will be admitted free. Any lady who has not received one of those tickets can do so by calling at the box office of the Coliseum after 10 a. m. today, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Agnew received a handsome present yesterday afternoon. Mr. Agnew some two months ago retired from the superintendency of the western division of the C. R. I. & P. railroad. He was one of the most popular men ever in charge of a division in the west, both with the employes and patrons. Yesterday a committee of the employes left at his house a magnificent rose-wood case containing 65 pieces of sterling silver table ware. The service is complete in knives, forks, spoons, etc., and the handsome present is appreciated by both Mr. and Mrs. Agnew, because it will always be a reminder of the good feeling that exists for them by the Rock Island boys.

$1000.00 Reward.

It having come to my knowledge that irrespensible persons and others who are insanely jealous of the magnificent and solid success of the Shaker Doctor in Colorado Springs, that he is a pretender and not a legally qualified physician and surgeon, I offer the above reward to any one who will prove to the contrary.

Also offer $500 if I do not have a certificate from the State Board of Health, which was awarded to me by said honorable Board of Health after due examination and consultation in my office at the Elk hotel.

Also offer $500 if I have used one name out of 37 whom I have cured in the last three weeks of my stay in Colorado Springs.

Now, brethren, claim the above money which will be paid on demand or forever after hold your peace.

A FRUIT COSMETIC,

HOW LEMON JUICE MAY BE USED WITH BENEFICIAL RESULTS.

Invaluable In the Care of the Complexion and Unequaled as a Hair Wash and Tonic—Good For the Teeth and Indispensable In Manicuring—A Great Aid to Health.

The very latest cosmetic is the lemon. In countries where they grow as freely as apples do in the temperate zone this fact is appreciated and their virtues availed of, but their admirable qualities are worthy of wider knowledge. Lemons are not so costly, even in the coldest countries, that women may not easily afford to use this tropical aid to the toilet.

In the care of the complexion it is invaluable, particularly in summer, when a few drops squeezed into the water in which the face is washed removes all greasiness and leaves the skin fresh and velvety. A little lemon juice rubbed on the cheeks before going to bed and allowed to dry there will remove freckles and sunburn and whiten the skin, besides giving it a charming smoothness and softness to the touch. This should be done about three times a week, both winter and summer, and is of the greatest aid to such complexions as are afflicted with enlarged and blackened pores. These enlarged pores are due to deficient circulation of the blood and are to be greatly aided by vigorous rubbing with a coarse towel every time the face is washed.

Those who lead a sedentary life find the circulation feebles about the nose, lips and temples, and these parts should be energetically rubbed and kneaded several times a day. When the pores become distended, a fine, invisible dust in the air enters and clogs and blackens them. More ordinary face washing, even when warm water and soap are used, is not sufficient to remove the dirt in the pores, but the vigorous acid of the lemon will cleanse and carry off all such unsightly blemishes.

In the West Indies a lemon bath is almost a daily luxury. Three or four limes or lemons are sliced into the water, which is drawn half an hour before using, so that the fruit juice may have a chance to permeate, and the deliciousness of such tubbing must be felt to be appreciated. The sense of cleanliness and freshness it gives and the suppleness and smoothness it imparts to the skin are an experience not soon forgotten. The lemon is more than a substitute for the bran bathbags which were invented by the French and which exquisites think so necessary for the toilet.

Half a teaspoonful of the juice of the lemon squeezed into a glass of water and used for brushing the teeth gives the mouth the same feeling of cleanliness that the lemon bath gives to the skin. It is particularly grateful when sickness renders the mucous and salivatory excretions of the mouth unpleasant. Not more than half a teaspoonful should be used, as a powerful acid is bad for the enamel, but on occasion the proportions may be increased, as the lemon is an active deodorizer and will remove the smell of onions or tobacco from the mouth.

As a hair wash and tonic it has no rival. For the former purpose a large, juicy lemon should be cut in half, the head dipped into a bowl of water, from which the oil only must be removed, and the water made of the same temperature as the air, and the lemon rubbed and squeezed vigorously among the roots and along the length of the hair. Soak and rub the head well in this bath and then rinse thoroughly in fresh water of the same warmth. If well dried at once with energetic toweling, there will never be the smallest danger of cold. No soap is needed. The acid of the lemon absolutely removes all grease and dust, and the hair, after such a bath, is soft, glossy and clean. This lemon bath once a week will have the most beneficial effect upon the hair, stimulating its growth, delaying the coming of grayness and making it beautifully pliable and polished.

For manicuring the lemon is absolutely indispensable. A teaspoonful of the juice in a cupful of tepid water whitens and supples the nails and removes all grease and dirt, making them much more easy to polish. This should be used every morning, and by dabbling the fingers a few moments it is possible to make the nails perfectly clean and transparent without the use of any metal cleaner by simply rubbing them with a towel. It is also most beneficial in removing the skin around the nail edges, which should never by any chance be cut with scissors. Rub the towel firmly all about the nail, pushing back the skin. Do this regular every day, and after a few weeks the skin growth will disappear and never return as long as the treatment is continued. The comparison of nails kept in this way with those subjected to the barbarous method of skin clipping will at once show the advantage of the former manner of treatment.

Finally the lemon upon the toilet table is a great aid to health. The juice of a lemon squeezed into a large breakfast cup of water, drank without sugar and immediately upon rising and as hot as can be borne, is the most admirable tonic and alterative. No one should form the habit of taking even the mildest alterative, but if the head feels heavy and dull or one is conscious of languor and discomfort upon rising this lemon draft is one of the best and simplest methods of clearing out the system and restoring its tone. A year ago this spring my brother was laid up in bed with inflammatory rheumatism and suffered intensely. The first application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm eased the pain and the use of one bottle completely cured him."

Moon Anchor Strike

In the 300-foot level of the Moon-Anchor what appears to be a very big thing has been opened up in a cross vein which is a good three feet wide This cross vein has been drifted on for seven feet and holds its values which are $110 per ton This cross vein had been opened up in all of the upper drifts but had been barren until it was again opened in the 300-foot level and now gives indications of becoming a factor by itself The company is now drifting both ways on the vein

The big new pump the company recently purchased is not yet completed but it is thought will be ready in order next week when sinking the main working shaft will be resumed to a depth of 600 feet

The company shipped four cars of ore on [illegible] About 35 men are employed on the property and [illegible] daily The Moon-Anchor dividend checks were sent out yesterday

Received Patents

The Golden Age company has just received patents for its three properties on Globe hill, the Dolphin Little Daisy and Sylvanite The Sylvanite is being developed by lessees Some time ago they opened up a very strong looking lead and late assays run as high as $[illegible] per ton

N. A. & C. C.

The New York and Cripple Creek are preparing to put another car load for an additional 50 feet of shaft on the Fred King on Cloud hill, and locate near the Doctor Fox, which has received so much prominence of late This will make the shaft 150 feet deep at which point the management expect to find pay ore The [illegible] is willing to accept one half of their pay in treasury stock at 10 cents per share which is somewhat above the present market price

Would Pay a Bonus.

The Golden Coin company which is working [illegible] the Mt Rosa company's Victor property have offered to pay a bonus of $500 cash to the Mt Rosa people if they will give an extension of six months on the bond and lease from Oct 1 next The Golden Coin people will also agree to sink the present shaft which is 50 feet deep, timber it one and after is now only 100 feet deep to a depth of 500 feet with in nine months at the rate of 50 feet every three months until the completion of their purchase

WEST CRIPPLE PROSPECTS

Extensive Work Under Way About Torrington.

West Creek Colo, May 15—Arrangements are being made to commence the rapid development of the Leonetti mine, near Torrington upon the return of Dr Pell who is now in California. The Leonetti is one of the most promising propositions in the district, and a carload of ore shipped from it some time ago, before work was suspended, proved very rich in values

Work on the Vindicator, west of Torrington, has been resumed and the ore being taken out is looking better as depth is gained The vein being followed contains a white quartz filled with white iron, and runs $50 in gold With a few feet more of work it is expected to cut an immense porphyry dike which crosses the vein in the vicinity of the workings

Work which was suspended a few days ago on the Black Diamond group by the Luella Mining company, has been resumed and will now be pushed during the remainder of the season The Black Diamond is located in the lime belt northeast of Torrington and the Manitou Park hotel

Owing to the fact that the workmen in the Last Chance have been putting the shaft and drift in shape to set at the ore a shipment has not been made as yet The preliminary work was completed yesterday and the vein will be opened up in good shape A mill run from the present depth is being taken to Pueblo to-day and a shipment will follow as soon as it can be gotten out.

PLENTY OF WORK UNDER WAY.

Central City Mine Operators Continue Development

Central City, Colo May 15—The Waine mine in Chase gulch resumed operations again this week The shaft is being relieved of its surplus water after which the property will be in good shape for immediate development work There is a good body of mineral in the lower levels, and this will be taken out and shipments made as soon as possible

Messrs Flynn and Brohl of Central have taken a lease and bond on the Iowa property in Illinois Central district The shaft is down 60 feet and they are cleaning it out and making everything ready for sinking and drifting

The Jasper mine in Illinois Central district is now down a total depth of 100 feet and a contract has been given out to sink another lift of 10 feet

Eugene and Alonzo Drake owners of the Mary Miller mine and tunnel intend commencing work again on that property and will drive the tunnel into the 1200 feet of ground owned by themselves on the Williams mine in Lake gulch The Mary Miller tunnel has been driven in a total distance of over 200 feet and will cut the Williams mine which is a gold producer, at a depth of 110 feet The tunnel is 5x8 feet laid throughout with steel rails, a waterway between the tracks and is in first class shape The Mary Miller mine is one of the best silver properties in that section of the country The ore is gray copper and ruby silver, some of it running as high as 800 ounces per ton This ore will not be mined, however, until the price of the white metal justifies its being taken out.

The Queen of the West mine in Chase gulch is being worked by George Wrane sch and George Dunsse who have a lease and bond on the property for another year The property however has been worked up in such good shape as to justify the owners in buying it, the consideration of the bond being $1000, and this they intend to do before the present lease runs out. During the past five months the shaft has been sunk a total distance of 120 feet making the shaft now a depth of 245 feet—In sinking this 120 feet for a distance of 11 feet there have been in vein matter The crevice on the bottom is 2½ feet wide showing up nearly 18 inches of solid iron and the balance is milling ore Smelter returns on this iron give values of from $40 to $55 per ton and the mill ore runs from six to 17 ounces gold per ton at the mills and shipments are being made with regularity. The shaft on this property is sunk from the tunnel level which is in a distance of 250 feet where there have a good plant of machinery The lessees intend sinking the shaft about 100 feet further, making the total depth close to 400 feet.

St Louis parties are opening the Ivanhoe on Quartz hill, and are at present making preparations for sinking The water is now down a depth of 800 feet, and at this depth a dam will be built to catch the water, which will then be taken out through the tunnel The total depth of the shaft is 800 feet, and it is believed that this mine with some development work can be put in good shape and will become a factor as a big shipper.

Denver parties are working the Champion on Kings flats under lease and bond Three drifts are being extended being the 165 east and the 200 east and west, where they have an average crevice 18 inches wide of lead and copper ore, being good grade of mineral Shipments have been made to the mills giving satisfactory returns The present depth of the shaft is 150 feet but they intend to sink a total depth of 500 feet

GOOD INDICATIONS

Expert Opinion on the Outlook of the Gunnison Gold Belt.

William A Farish, the veteran mining expert who some months ago made three different trips to the southern end of the Gunnison gold belt, says that while the particular properties he went to inspect did not so far as opened up at that time justify the investment of the amount of money asked it is his firm conviction that there will be found very large and valuable gold mines in that [illegible] the undoubted fact that the general geological conditions not only indicate but of similar conditions in rich gold producing districts elsewhere are now producing almost [illegible] of gold in paying quantities As the district has been described very thoroughly and in detail by Professor Lakes in his report published in the Rocky Mountain News of May 6 which report Mr Farish read with great interest, he does not consider it necessary for him to recapitulate the favorable geological conditions referred to but personally indorses Professor Lakes's very accurate report and regretting the professor's opinion that there is probably no young district in Colorado more worthy of the attention of the prospector, or offering better inducements for the outlay of a moderate amount of capital in developing the prospects already discovered and in searching for others—(News

Gold Standard Lease

The Bradbury lease on the North Star of the Gold Standard company has just received returns from a car load of ore sent to one of the Denver smelters which returned $80 per ton The North Star adjoins with the famous Doctor mine, and the ore shipped came from the Doctor vein in the North Star ground The lessees are only shipping such ore as comes out in the course of development work and propose sinking the shaft which is now down [illegible] to a depth of 250 feet, at which point they will make connection with the Doctor workings, thereby securing an air passage which will be advantageous to both mines. About 70 feet of drifting has been done in the Bradbury lease at the 200 foot point Two short drifts were also run near the surface to connect with the shafts about [illegible] feet deep for ventilating purposes The drifts in the Doctor workings have been run within 20 feet of the line of the North Star and are still in rich ore The Bradbury lease will drift towards the Doctor line, which is about 100 feet from the shaft During the past two months the shaft has been sunk 150 feet.

Current Notes

A load of ore from the recent discovery on the Lincoln was shipped to the new Summit mill yesterday

The Bill Nye, on the east slope of Battle mountain has been sold to T J Burke of Denver for $800 cash

The stockholders of the Christmas company are in the city making elaborate preparations for future work on the mine

The Santa Rita company are making preparations for resuming business The proposition is a high grade ore and a shipper.

Two prospectors working on a claim located one mile east of Victor have found a 4½ foot vein of $17 ore, and are jubilant over the prospect

George Lindsey and William Smith have just returned from Gold Springs having sunk shafts on their several claims They report flattering prospects

Dr H M Casebeer is working assessments on sixteen claims in the High Park district Assays have been obtained from these holes which runs from $1 to $12

The new machinery for the Lincoln mine was shipped from Denver on Tuesday night The machinery for the Ace of Diamonds was hauled from the Maloney lease on Gold hill yesterday morning

A big strike is reported from Adelaide Assayer Stricklard at Goldfield has some ore in his possession brought in by a prospector named Goodwin, and a chemical analysis of the same returns $600 per ton

A miner by the name of Pickle was exhibiting on the streets yesterday a specimen of ore said to have come from the Alhambra district that showed considerable free gold The ore is said to have come from a twenty foot hole

On the Morning Star F E and W L Woolston have leased a claim in which they have a 50-foot shaft They have encountered a vein of fine quartz which assays from $5 to $10 The vein has widened from 16 to 18 inches

The Banker mine on Bull hill which showed its title to the name by going bankrupt now promises to catch up with its liabilities. Under the management of the receiver, Mr Ed Trevarrow it has already paid between $1000 and $2000 over running expenses

The report that pay ore was struck in the Congress on Straub is an error The Congress does not own any property on Straub, although some representatives of the company have circulated such a report evidently with the intention of boosting the stock

A new pumping station has been placed in the Midget located on Gold hill The mine is being operated by Doyle Burns Peck Harnan and others and is in results a Portland company proposition They have the New Moon vein The Midget is the deepest shaft on Gold hill, being down 250 feet

President Purrell of the Pittsburg company is busily engaged in looking after three groups of claims One group of five patented claims are located on Little Bull, a group of five between Big and Little Bull and the [illegible] of Cripple Creek The Pittsburg company is a close corporation and has no stock for sale

The Enid northeast of the Caledonia is down twenty feet on a good vein between granite walls. It is thought that this vein is the continuation of the Caledonia as assays have been had that run $25 The formation of the ore is crystallized quartz It is owned by the Boston New York and Cripple Creek Gold Mining company

It is only a matter of a short time when the four gentlemen who are working a lease on the north end of the Burns property will have ore to ship At a depth of 30 feet they have a 3-foot vein of sylvanite containing from $10 to $70 worth of gold and 15 tons of the same stuff on the dump The claim is near the Pharmacist and the lessees are M J Layden, D B Rhodes and Jack Davis

Dr Casebeer, who purchased a lease on the Parkview on Rhyolite from Miles and Ogden put two shifts of men at work yesterday The shaft is now down eighty-five feet on a two-foot vein Sinking is being done as rapidly as possible and another shift will be put on as convenience will allow A contract was let yesterday for new steam equipments to be put in place within ten days

The Clara D, owned by the Lexington Gold Mining company and being worked on a lease by Woodworth & Co is down eighty feet on a well defined vein. Work was begun several days ago on the vein which is being worked both ways from the shaft Two shifts of men are taking out ore the best of which will be saved for shipment New steam machinery will be put in place within a couple of weeks

An important transaction in mining property is the sale of a three fourths interest in the Rover and Lucky Boy group on Phonolite mountain by Scott & Northcutt to W J Stumph and C J Buck of New York Also a half interest in the Alice [illegible] The consideration was $500 of which $100 was cash The transaction is of especial interest because it means the immediate development of these properties in a location of which little is yet known.

After suspending operations for several days the Last Dollar is ready to resume business on a larger scale and in a new shaft on the northern end of their claim During the interim it has put in a new hoisting machine capable of largely increased production and erected a large [illegible] The Last Dollar has an enviable reputation as a heavy shipper of high grade ore and this improvement in its facility will no doubt largely increase the number of men employed and the mineral production

A lease on the Celesta on Gold hill was sold yesterday by Jo Gallup to Kansas City parties The mine is northwest of the Caledonia and about 100 feet from the Phoenix It is down fifty-feet on an incline which was run to follow an ore chute from about 20 feet from the surface The new lessees will sink the shaft down from the point where the old lessees began to follow the chute Two shifts of men will go to work to-day and by next week another shift will be added The shaft is on a vein two feet wide, and will be sunk to a depth of 200 feet The sale was consummated by Cottrell & Olsen

(From Pacific Health Journal)

First, get a wife secord be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear A kind word a tender look will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health

...rk, May 15.—Money on call has ...at 1@1½ per cent., last loan at ...ent offered at 2½. Prime mer... per 5½ per cent. Bar silver 6...

Mexican dollars, 63½. Sterling exchange dull with actual business in bankers' bills at $4 87½@4 87¾ for 60 days and $4 88½@4 88¾ for demand. Posted rates $4 89½@4 90. Commercial bills $4 85½@4 87. Government bonds quiet; state bonds dull, railroad bonds steady. Silver at the board was quiet.

The factors in to-day's limited speculation at the stock exchange were the attitude of London operators who turned up as sellers of our securities, the cool reception given the New York City loan by the London investors, the agitation at Washington and at Madrid and the engagement of a million gold for export to Europe to-morrow. The fact that London changes its position on the market was a distinct disappointment. Yesterday the foreigners bought fairly large amounts of St. Paul and L. & N., and some of the low-priced bonds and speculations pointed to still further buying for that account. The reverse proved true and local operators who are of the opinion that a reaction is overdue took advantage of this opportunity to bring about lower range of prices. Manhattan showing of earnings for the March quarter assisted the shorts, the company, according to the statement filed with the railroad commissioner at Albany, failing to earn all its charges, including dividends, by the sum of $66,189. The stock fell from 105⅞ at the close of yesterday to 103½. Sugar, Bay State Gas, Consolidated Gas, L. & N., Leather preferred, Tobacco and Tennessee Coal and Iron were also heavy and lost 1@2½ per cent. Sugar was particularly weak in the closing transactions. The market closed weak and generally ¼@2½ per cent lower on the day. Total sales were 107,250 shares.

Bonds were quiet and easier. The transactions footed up $94,000. Hocking Valley consols fell ¾ to 55. Illinois Central sold at 103¼ to 99¾. St. Louis and San Francisco consol 6s 1 to 31. Union Pacific sinking fund 4s 1 to 91.

In government bonds, $5,000 coupon 4s of 1925 sold at 117¼, $15,000 do reg at 117¼.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 15.—As far as was consistent with a dull and inactive market, wheat was firm this morning. The tone was derived from reports of damage by bugs. Somebody exhibited a few samples of the growing wheat from Illinois and Ohio, which were infested with chinch bugs, but, whether the samples represented the general condition or only isolated parts was a matter for the observer to exercise his imagination on. The weather was favorable throughout the West, that being a check on bull endeavor. Liverpool cables were firm and ¼ pence higher. Receipts at Chicago were five cars and 9,119 bushels were taken from store. The Northwest had 461 cars against 351 last Friday and 142 a year ago. Export clearances were fair at 372,000 bushels. The market was sold off after noon on a rumor that Phillips had issued a bearish report, but, if he did, the figures were carefully guarded. Cooling continental cables were lower. A drought which has been prevailing in Prince was broken to-day. New York reporting foreign selling orders on the news and sending in return commissions for a like action in this market. Estimated receipts for to-morrow six cars.

Corn was an unattractive deal. Speculation was of no consequence, being only local in its character. Holders of privileges were using every effort to recover their investment, but found the opposition rather trying, in view of the modest fluctuations. Weather and the anxiety for change in prices. Receipts were 157 cars and 431,267 bushels were withdrawn from store. Liverpool cables were steady. Export clearances amounted to 110,324 bushels. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 200 cars.

Oats were quiet. The movement of prices reflected the feeling of wheat and corn, and, like the trade in those grains, that of oats was restricted to local and scalping transactions. Receipts were 148 cars, and 156,782 bushels were withdrawn from store. July oats closed ¼@¼ lower. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 200 cars.

Annual Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Elkton Consolidated Mining and Milling Company will be held at the office of the company in the city of Colorado Springs, Colorado, on Saturday, the 23th day of June, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such meeting.

Books for the transfer of stock will close on June 10th, 1896, at 4 o'clock p. m., and reopen two days after the final adjournment of the meeting.

GEORGE BERNARD, President.
Attest: J. H. AVERY, Secretary.

Postmaster H. A. Ferguson is laid up with neuralgia.

Mr. T. J. Sanford of Trinidad was a visitor in the city yesterday.

College and Boulder play their last game today, and the last of the season. The admission is only 25 cents.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Worth Abbey of Colorado City and Lucy Wheeler of West Creek.

A suit of divorce was filed in the county court yesterday by Marcus N. Couch from Etta Couch, charging cruelty and desertion.

The memorial services for the late E. C. F. Krauss will be held on Sunday afternoon at Coburn library at 4:30. All of his friends are invited.

Mrs. M. F. McKinnen of Buluwaye, South Africa, a sister of Mrs. Gamble, is visiting her sister for a few weeks. She arrived from England on Wednesday.

At the meeting of the committees of the Book carnival yesterday, it was shown that the gross receipts were $1035.35. The expenses were $164.01, leaving the net receipts $874.34.

Meeting of Pike's Peak division U. R. K. of P. to-night to consider invitation of G. A. R.'s Memorial Day parade. Also initiation of candidates. Full attendance desired.

Rev. W. H. W. Boyle got back yesterday from a three-weeks' stay at Excelsior Springs, Mo. Mrs. Boyle will remain there for the present, and is much improved by the waters.

Who is Joe Wright, anyway?

Walter W. White, the champion trick bicycle rider of the United States, will give an exhibition of riding this afternoon at 2:30 in front of the Stearns bicycle store on East Bijou street.

A supper will be held this afternoon from 5 to 8 at the residence of Mrs. Young, 15½ West Pikes Peak ave., for the benefit of the Episcopal church of Colorado City. Supper 25 cents.

Miss Alice Christy, of San Francisco made her cousins, R. A. Christy and Mrs. Jno. W. Garrett, a very pleasant visit yesterday between trains and left last night via the Rock Island for Kansas City.

All young men are reminded of the rally for men only at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Finklinder, has been secured as speaker. Special music will be arranged for.

Who is Joe Wright, anyway?

Mr. Mangold, the new manager of the professional ball team, says that he will at once strengthen the team and that they will put up a good game if the people will patronize properly. The next game in this city will be with Aspen next Monday.

Ezra Kendall was at the opera house last evening in "A Pair of Kids." He was greeted by a fair audience and seemed to catch on with the audience. They would not let him leave the stage for a long time. Outside of Kendall and his wife, the company is not very good.

Today the senior class of Cutler academy is to have charge of the soda fountain at Hayward's. The money they receive will go to the class donation to the Pearson's fund. The young ladies will be in charge of the fountain and the young men will assist. They will serve the best soda in the city today.

Ground was broken yesterday for the new residence of Oppenheim brothers, to be built on the corner of Monument and Weber streets. The house is to be in the gambrel-roof, colonial style of architecture, to contain eighteen rooms, and to cost about $8000. The plans were prepared by Fred R. Hastings, architect, and the construction will also be superintended by him.

Waverly Bicycles, 116 Pike's Peak ave.

The biggest event in athletics in this city this year occurs at Roswell park next Saturday. This is the inter-collegiate field day. The contestants are from the state school of mines at Golden, the state university at Boulder, the agricultural school at Ft. Collins, and Colorado college. Some of the finest athletes in the West will participate and no doubt many records will be broken.

R. P. Davis & Co., successor to Verner Z. Reed & Co., have sold a lot on East Cimmaron from F. D. Pasterius to J. E. Quackenbosa for $1,000; also one from the same party to Kate Schiele for $900; also one from same party to P. J. Schiele for $975; also one from same party to E. Quackenbos for $950; also one on East Cache La Poudre street from Sylvester Johnson to James McEacherm for $350, and one on South Weber from the Pasterius estate to Q. E. McCreery for $1,200.

The railroads leading into the city have put a joint agent here for the stamping of tickets, just as was done last year. Yesterday the cheap rates from the East went into effect, and will last until November. The fare to Colorado from Missouri river points is $25 for the round trip. It should result in a big travel to this state this summer. Mr. P. J. Flinn of Denver has been placed in charge of the Colorado Springs joint agency, and makes his headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce.

Last evening a fair sized audience gathered at the First Presbyterian church to hear the author's recital. Mr. E. Carson Thorpe and Mrs. Rose Hartwick Thorpe were the attraction. Mr. Thorpe is the writer who has contributed many German dialect sketches under the name of Hans. Mrs. Thorpe is the author of "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight." Both are pleasant readers, although suffering from colds. Perhaps the most pleasing number was Mrs. Thorpe's rendition of the piece which has made her famous. She wrote it when quite a young girl. Mr. Thorpe's dialect readings were very amusing. Mr. Boyle introduced the speakers, and two of the pupils from the Blind school gave pleasing songs.
